

THE GRAND

YORK

OVERVIEW

Built in 1906 as the North Eastern Railway Company Headquarters, The Grand boasts a stately character with sweeping stone staircases, original wood panelling, parquet flooring and acres of marble. Now reborn as a hotel, retaining its original splendour, with its intricate stonework and marble detailing, The Grand, York features beautiful public spaces, extraordinarily spacious rooms, two restaurants and bars, meeting and conference rooms, an executive lounge, a spa and a state-of-the-art cookery school.

Situated next to the ancient walls that enclose the city centre, and with views of York Minster, the hotel is located at a historical crossroads - the perfect place to explore the city.
